Look at the close-ups below.

Can you find them in nine photographs throughout the gallery?

See what emerges.

AUTHENTIC MEANS TRUE OR REAL

When we see photographs in advertisements they are showing us an image to make us think about our real lives even if the photo is staged.

A picture of a pretty girl to sell make-up.

A picture of a fun party to sell a camera.

Imagine YOU are the photographer. A company wants you to choose any of the photos in this gallery to sell their product.

Which ones do you choose?

Record the photographer and the name of the image.

THIS PHOTOGRAPHER USES A UNIQUE STYLE

of framing the photo to focus your eyes on the red lips and nails. We don't know what the model or what the rest of her outfit looks like!

Use a pencil from the front desk to draw the rest of the model's face
...and finish the bottom of her dress.

FICTION TELLS A MADE-UP STORY

NONFICTION TELLS A TRUE STORY

The FICTIONAL WORLDS that photographers shoot often mix fact with make believe. Find the photograph below in our exhibition. What story does this photograph tell?

This photo shows a woman _____.

The woman looks _____ because _____.

Right now she is thinking about _____.

When she is done, she will _____ and _____.

Our EMERGING photographers are great at thinking outside of the box. Sometimes it is in how they shoot their photo. Sometimes it is in what they shoot.

Can you think outside of the box? Try a game of I SPY in our gallery. Circle what you can find. Challenge a friend or family member to find something...
